HISTORY OF THE PANJAB.

The history of India in the earlier pages of this work briefly commemorates the chief facts in the history of the Panjab and therefore the main points only need be mentioned here. This history is representative of the different races who have conquered India and the plains between its rivers formed the battle ground for mastery of empire.

In 327 B.C. Alexander the Great advanced as far as the Sutley and the Greco-Bactrian dynasty founded by his general, Seleucus, which lasted till about 126 B.C. has left many remains. Chandragupta of the Mauryan dynasty who ruled Magadha about this period (303 B.C.) added the Panjab to his dominions, and a little later it was a stronghold of the Buddhists. As early as the 7th century Musalman invaders from the West began to devastate the district.

It was not till 975 however that Sabuktigin, general of Khurāsān, father of the great Mahmud, advanced beyond the Indus to plant the Muhammadan power firmly in the heart of the Panjab. In 1027 Mahmud of Ghazni made Lahore the capital of a subject province. From Lahore the seat of empire was removed to Delhi by Muhammad Ghori founder of the second Muhammadan dynasty circa 1193. From this period onward the coins in this work form a chronological picture of the many changes of dynasty experienced, and should prove of service to the student. In 1524 the Mughal prince Babar invaded India and succeeded in conquering the whole Panjab as far as shortind. Two years later he defeated the Afghan army at Panipat, entered Delhi as a conqueror and founded the Mughal dynasty. The gradual decline of the Mughals and the rise of the Sikhs into power commenced in the middle of the 17th century. The invasion of Nadir Shah in 1738 and that of Ahmad Shah Durrani in 1762 for a while checked the power of the Sikhs, but true to their faith the Sikhs rose once more as their conquerors withdrew and initiated a final struggle, which resulted in their complete independence. The overthrow of the Sikhs, the final collapse of the Mughals and the advent of the British as a paramount power are set out in further detail as beforementioned in the earlier pages of this work.

URDU ZAFAR KARIN. - AKBARS' CAMP COINS.

In his desire to assist in administering justice with his own hands, Akbar set the fashion of an annual movable court, or camp on tour, and these coins were (as the name implies) struck in the camp for the use of his vast retinue during its stay in various parts of his dominions. Though conveniently included here it must be remembered that their issue was not confined to the Panjab alone.

HISTORY OF BAHAWALPUR.

The ancestors of the ruling family of Bahawalpur originally came from Sind and assumed independence during the break up of the Durrani empire when Shah Shuja was expelled from Kabul (1809). The Nawab, Bahawal Khan II made several applications to the British for protection which were declined although the treaty of Lahore with Ranjit Singh really affected this object. The first treaty between Britain & Bahawalpur was in 1833, where the independence of the Nawab within his own boundaries was secured.

The political relations as at present existing between the state and the paramount power are regulated by the treaty of 1838.

HISTORY OF BALUCHISTAN

The earliest known facts regarding Baluchistan are that Alexander marched his troops across its deserts to invade India and that after his death it passed to his general Seleucus. Later on it was ruled by the Greco-Bactrian Kings reigning in Afghanistan and the Panjab. Between B.C. 140 and 180 they were overthrown by the Sakas. About this period Buddhism flourished. The empire of the Sassanians followed but Baluchistan was not conquered till the time of Rusthriwān A.D. 529-577. In the year 635 or 6 Rai Chach marched from Sind and conquered Mekran and the Rai dynasty extended their dominions towards Kandahar.

had. The Arabs reached Mekran as early as 643 and their power lasted till about the end of the 10th century. Shortly after, Baluchistan fell into the hands of Sabuktajin, and his son Mahmud of Ghazni was able to effect his conquests in Sind owing to his possession of Khuzdar. From the Ghaznavids it passed to the power of the Ghori sultans and later was included in the dominions of Muhtam-mad Khan of Khwarizm (Khiva) 1219. About 1228 a Mongol expedition under Chagatai penetrated as far as Mekran. A few years later the south of Baluchistan came under the rule of Alamsht of Delhi but soon reverted to the Mongols. A century later the Baluchi extended their power to Kalat, Kachhi and the Panjab, and the wars between Shakar the Rind and Gwathram Lashari so celebrated in Baluch verse, took place. From 1556 to 1595 the country was under the Safavid dynasty of Persia, when it fell into the hands of the Mughals of Delhi until 1638 and then reverted to Persia. In 1590 the upper highlands were included by Akbar in the sarkar of Kandahar, while Kachhi was part of the Bhakhar sarkar of the Mullan Subah. Mekran alone remained independent under the Malikis, Buledais and Gichkis until Nasir Khan I of Kalat brought it within his power during the 18th century. The Mirwaris from whom the present Kalat rulers are descended claim Arab origin. One of their chiefs Mir Hasan regained the capital from its Mongol governor, and he and his successors held Kalat for twelve generations when in 1666-7 the rise of Mir Ahmad occurred. Fifth in descent from the latter was Abdullah an intrepid soldier of fortune who possessed himself of Kachh -

Gandava, hitherto held by different petty chiefs, under the authority of the Nawabs of Sind. In 1707 during Muhabbat his successor's reign, the famous Nadir Shah advanced from Persia to invade Hindustan, and while at Kandahar successfully sent his forces to establish his authority in Baluchistan, Muhabbat Khan however was continued in the government of the country by Nadir's order. Muhabbat was in 1750 succeeded by Nasir Khan. He proved a wise, politic and warlike prince, took great pains to re-establish the internal government of all the provinces under his dominion, and improved and fortified the city of Kalat. Nasir Khan declared himself independent in 1753, but Ahmad Shah Surrouhi of Kabul (the first of that dynasty) sent a force and reduced him to obedience. Nasir died of extreme old age in 1793 and was succeeded by his eldest son Mahmud Khan. During the latter's reign the state gradually diminished, the process continuing through Mehrab, the next Khan's rule. In 1809 Kalat was attacked by the British in consequence of Mehrab's treachery. Mehrab was killed in the conflict but later was proved innocent of the odious charge. The treaty now in force between Britain and Kalat was signed in 1876 at Jacobabad by Khudadad Khan and Lord Lytton.

HISTORY OF CHAMBA

Founded probably in the sixth century by Marut, a Suraj-vansi Rajput who built Brakmapura the modern Brakmaur, Chamba was extended by Miera Varma (680) and the town of Chamba built by Sahil Varma about 920. The state maintained its independence, acknowledging at times a nominal submission to Kandahar, until the Mughal conquest of India. Under the Mughals it became tributary to the empire but its internal administration was not interfered with, and it escaped almost unscathed from Sikh aggression. The state first came under British influence in 1846. The part west of the Ravi was at first handed over to Kashmir, but subsequently the boundaries of the state were fixed as they now stand, and it was declared independent of Kashmir. In 1848 a sanad was given to the Raja assigning the territory to him and his male heirs. Raja Gopal Singh incurred the displeasure of Britain and required to abdicate in 1873, and was succeeded by Raja Pharn Singh who abdicated in favour of the present Raja, Bhuri Singh in 1904. HISTORY OF KASHMIR.

The state of Kashmir has been styled "The Paradise of India," and tradition says that its fruitful valleys once formed the bed of a vast lake. Hindu Kings are said to have ruled there for centuries before the Christian era, and that from about 150 to 100 B.C. it was ruled by Tartar princes. Inscriptions on coins and monuments tell us that Hindus reigned there when Mahmud of Ghazni led his famous expeditions against India from 996 to 1024 making fearful havoc throughout the province. After Mahmud's departure the country again settled down to the peaceful rule of its Hindu Kings until 1305 when it was invaded from Tibet and its King Sena Deva fled. He was succeeded by Rany-poo, son of Yaffan King of Tibet who is said to have been converted to Islam, and assumed the name of Sadar al-din. His successor Shams al-din who ascended the throne in 1341 is usually considered the first Muhammadan King of Kashmir. Foremost among the list of these Muhammadan rulers is the name of Zain al-abidin who reigned fifty two years, and was a poet, artist and sportsman. He encouraged architecture, literature and the arts, introduced weaving, paper and glass making, and the celebrated papier mache work. After his death the state fell into disorder and eventually the Chaks (a Hindu race) assumed power. In 1559 Ghazi Khan Chak declared himself sovereign but his dynasty only reigned twenty seven years when Kashmir was conquered by Akbar in 1586 and annexed to the Mughal empire. From that time until 1753 it remained a province of the empire and was the frequent retreat in the summer of the Emperors of Delhi. In 1738 Nadir Shah of Persia invaded India, sacked Behli and added the fair vale of Kashmir to his conquests. Ahmad Shah Durrani of Kabul followed in Nadir's wake and in 1752 subjugated and annexed the state to his empire. At different times governors were appointed to the province among whom were Nur al din and Muham^d Azim Khan, the latter making himself independent in 1811. It remained under Afghan sway until 1819 when it was conquered by the Sikhs. From that time it was ruled by a succession of governors appointed by the Maharajas of the Panjab until the dissolution of the Sikh realms and their conquest by the British in 1845. A year later Gulab Singh the ruler of Jammu was confirmed in possession of the territory which he had held as feudatory chief by payment of £750,000 and also given possession of Kashmir. His successor was his son Ranbir Singh who died in 1885 and succeeded by his son Pratap Singh the present ruler.

HISTORY of PATIALA

The ruling families of Patiala, Jhind and Nabha have one common ancestor in Phul a chaudhari. The rajas of Jhind and Nabha are descendents of his first son Tiloria whilst the Maharaja of Patiala is descended from Rama the second son. All are Sikhs of the Sidhu, Jat tribe. Ala Singh son of Rama defeated Saiyid Asad Ali in the battle of Barnala and over the Shakis he was also victorious. He built the fortress of Patiala. In 1762 Ala Singh was defeated by Ahmad Shah Durrani but after his submission received into favour and given the title of Raja. On the Emperor's departure Ala put himself at the head of his Sikhs, boldly attacked the Afghan governor of Sirhind whom he killed, and compelled the population to remove to Patiala. On his death in 1765 his son Amar Singh succeeded largely increasing the power of the state during his reign. In the latter part of the 18th cent^y the famous adventurer George Thomas caused Patiala much trouble, but at last the Sikhs with the aid of Perron, the French general, were able to drive him off. In 1807-8 an appeal was made to Britain for protection against Ranjit Singh and in 1809 a treaty was made in which Ranjit Singh engaged to give up all claim to the Cis-Sutlej states. Karam Singh who succeeded in 1813 assisted the English in their war with the Ghurkhas of Nepal. On the death of Karam in 1845 his son Narendra came to the throne and when war broke out with the Sikhs took his stand by the side of Britain as was also the case in the Mutiny of 1857. Mahendra who succeeded his father in 1862 proved an enlightened ruler and benefactor to his people, a proud distinction shared by his son Rajendra succeeding in 1876, and grandson Bhupendra the present Maharaja. Of the two cities Barnala and Sirhind whose coins are illustrated nothing much is known to history. They are both within the borders of the state and that they were important places is evident from the fact that coins in large numbers were struck there, Narwal being especially prolific.

HISTORY of SIRMUR.

Sirmur, which means a crowned head, was the residence of the ancient Rājās who reigned before the present dynasty. The first of the reigning line was Agar Sen Rawal of the Jeyasalmir family. He was in the neighbourhood on a pilgrimage to the Ganges in 1095, when the last of the ancient Rājās was accidentally drowned in a flood and Agar was placed on the vacant throne. His descendants reigned till 1803, when the Ghorhas of Nepal conquered Sirmur and retained possession until defeated by the English in 1815. They reinstated Karam Prakash the Rajput Rājā to his dominions but deposed him later on account of imbecility and conferred the Kingdom on his son Fath Prakash. He was succeeded by his son Raghubir who died in 1857. His immediate successor, his son Shamsher Prakash loyally assisted the British the same year in the Mutiny. The present ruler Amar Prakash came to the throne in 1911.
